Combatting any harassment CUPE's ombudspersons

CUPE is committed to creating a union which is inclusive, welcoming and free from harassment, discrimination and all types of bullying and intimidation. Harassment and inappropriate behaviour divide us as workers and can undermine the dignity and respect of our sisters and brothers.

Delegates and staff at this national event can call on a team of ombudspersons for assistance in dealing with harassment or other inappropriate behaviour as defined in the CUPE Code of Conduct.

Who is a CUPE ombudsperson?

A CUPE ombudsperson is a member or staff trained to resolve complaints of unfair treatment or harassment. CUPE's Code of Conduct sets out expectations for behaviour at CUPE events. CUPE ombudspersons are trained to resolve complaints in a neutral, impartial and confidential manner.

What services does an ombudsperson provide?

Ombudspersons respond to complaints from delegates about inappropriate behaviour or actions.

An ombudsperson may:

- Listen to your concerns and discuss your complaint with you, either on the phone or in person.
- Meet with one or both parties involved to discuss how to resolve the complaint.
- Propose and evaluate possible solutions.
- Implement a solution for the duration of the event.

Ombudspersons do not take sides, but work with the parties involved to try and resolve the situation. This is NOT like a grievance procedure. There is no investigation, no witnesses, no time lines.

When they receive a complaint, the ombudspersons try to resolve the situation. If that is not possible, the ombudspersons will contact the person in charge of the event who has the authority to expel the offender(s) from the event.

Who can use the services of the ombudsperson and how confidential are they?

Any CUPE member or staff may contact an ombudsperson at a national CUPE sponsored event. The process is confidential, that means the ombudsperson will not identify you or the details of the complaint.

How can I get in touch with an ombudsperson?

If you feel you have been harassed and need assistance, please call 613-809-7747 someone will be there to help. All calls will be treated confidentially.
