

Responding to the opioid crisis – share your thoughts

CUPE is conducting a survey on the opioid crisis in Canada.

Your participation is valuable and important.

The information and stories you provide will help CUPE chart its response to the crisis and lobby for needed solutions. The information collected through the survey is anonymous and confidential.

To participate, please fill out the online survey at the following link:

The opioid crisis is a growing problem. Members have recognized our governments need to do more.

Your experiences and knowledge will help us learn more about the problem, how the crisis impacts you at work, and how you think our governments should respond to it.

We want to hear from you
